Project Information (EN)

A starting point

As a starting point for this shift, Rē presents a range of fabrics made of unsorted textile waste in a ready to order collection for home interior applications. The collection invites you to discover the potential of re-used material sources and value its imperfections through different mixed colour blends. Rē is a starting point to explore new design possibilities through the reuse of raw leftover materials. Using Wyron yarns as its main ingredient, Rē is made out of mixed textile waste and aims to close the industry's loop in an endless cycle.
