Project Information (EN)

The kids are playing around the pool

Isola is bringing the work of Eindhoven-based designers Alexandre Varnier, Thanos Paspaliaris, and Erik Campanini to Burgers. Children can make drawings of chairs and see the chairs already made by Thanos Paspaliaris based on children's drawings. One of the drawings will be made during the week as a live act. Climbing on the furniture by Alexandre Varnier, adults can release their inner child. In the "Mobile No Puppets Theater" by Erik Campanini, which has no puppets or puppeteers, the viewer interacts directly with the mechanism of the objects by activating the story.

Open studio's: 9Lives, Antwan van der Kerkhof, Books 4 Life, Huiskamer, Las Erop, Martin Voorbij, Peli Design, Studio Aldrik, Studio Hertogstaat, Studio Snahter.

Designer Statement

On the Eleven of August 1990, Ilse, Inge, Monica, Mira, Rens, Walter, Edwin, Odette, Richard, Eveline, Chris, Robert, Hein, and Heidi entered two by two at Hertogstraat 2 later, Bart and Paul climbed the building to open the back door. They had to stay quiet that night. In the morning, they called the police to officialize their stay in the empty building. The tenants begin to pay the rent to themselves to provide the money for the renovation of the place. In 1992 after 2 years and 3 months, they were able to buy the building. The Burgers is a community in Eindhoven that guarantees a place for creativity, social discussion, and the exchange of ideas. Through interactive objects, installations, and architectural interventions, we want to open a dialog with this place and its inhabitants by investigating the potentiality of community building and playgrounds in living places. We see a place that transforms through our comprehension of practice, space, individuality, and society. We are playing around the pool, speculating, and traveling on its border, Trying to challenge our perception of risk, engagement, and work.

Projectinformatie (NL)

Burgers

Isola haalt het werk van de Eindhovense ontwerpers Alexandre Varnier, Thanos Paspaliaris en Erik Campanini naar Burgers. Kinderen kunnen tekeningen maken van stoelen en de stoelen bekijken die Thanos Paspaliaris al heeft gemaakt op basis van kindertekeningen. Een van de tekeningen zal in de loop van de week als live act gemaakt worden. Klimmend op de meubels van Alexandre Varnier kunnen volwassenen hun innerlijke kind loslaten. In het "Mobile No Puppets Theatre" van Erik Campanini, dat geen poppen of poppenspelers heeft, speelt de kijker rechtstreeks met het mechanisme van de objecten door het verhaal te activeren.
