□□□□ (Human Connecter)

□□□□ (Human Connecter)
□□□□ (Human Connecter)

Hosted by: Asuka Kondo

Project Information (EN)

A series of aprons that create spaces for gathering and sharing memories. Kinship is generally considered to be how individuals are related to one another, especially by blood, marriage or adoption. Human beings are a part of this world and are connected to all the elements of the world such as all people, animals, objects, natural phenomena, and geographic features. It’s not easy to recognise and appreciate connections with our surroundings in everyday life but it’s important to build kinship by thinking about these connections because our daily small actions can create kinship to the world. I wish for a world in which we can create these small actions and expand the circle of happiness and kindness together.

Projectinformatie (NL)

A series of aprons that create spaces for gathering and sharing memories. Kinship is generally considered to be how individuals are related to one another, especially by blood, marriage or adoption. Human beings are a part of this world and are connected to all the elements of the world such as all people, animals, objects, natural phenomena, and geographic features. It’s not easy to recognise and appreciate connections with our surroundings in everyday life but it’s important to build kinship by thinking about these connections because our daily small actions can create kinship to the world. I wish for a world in which we can create these small actions and expand the circle of happiness and kindness together.

Image List

Filename	Caption	Credit
asuka-final-pictures-small-final_1665076258.jpg		©Idunn Feyling

The images above are included in the ZIP under `/images`.