Project Information (EN)

A woven artist book

Etymologically „text“ roots in the latin texere: to weave. The material itself is a carrier of history, of interconnections and networks, a thinking space, and a collective memory. The artist book picks up this thread and documents a working process. We see visual impressions that show textile presence in our environment, we can read threads that open our textile connections to history or different material potentials come up through sensual experiences. It is an open invitation to explore your material connections.
