

PVC HANDBLOWING PROJECT

Japanese designer Kodai Iwamoto uses glass-blowing techniques to remodel plastic pipes into vases.

Hosted by: Kodai Iwamoto Design

Project Information (EN)

“What will be happen if an old manufacturing process meets cheap and mass-produced material?” This project came about as a result of my curiosity with the above question. Plastic pipes, basically used for distributing water, are easily available at

Projectinformatie (NL)

“What will be happen if an old manufacturing process meets cheap and mass-produced material?” This project came about as a result of my curiosity with the above question. Plastic pipes, basically used for distributing water, are easily available at lo

Image List

Filename	Caption	Credit
pvc-handblowing-project-2middle_1602834593.jpg	None	None
pvc-handblowing-project-01-small_1602836158.jpg	None	None
pvc-handblowing-project-type-b-small_1602836167.jpg	None	None

The images above are included in the ZIP under /images.