

Anatomy 2025

Hosted by: Isabel Wolfs

Project Information (EN)

The components of each sneaker are displayed from the outside and inside, allowing visitors to move around and examine every detail. By presenting the iconic Nike Air Max 95 'Neon' alongside the Salomon GCS Pro, the contrast in aesthetics becomes clear. From streetwear to high-performance outdoor models, every sneaker relies on specific materials and construction, revealing the hidden choices that shape its design, functionality, and impact.

The work aims to uncover what is typically hidden, inviting reflection on material choices, recycling, and the often-invisible labor behind footwear production. The piece is the base of a visual and tactile educational tool in her education collective “Footwear Care Lab” and will remain in the museum’s permanent collection supporting ongoing education and dialogue around these issues.

Projectinformatie (NL)

Image List

Filename	Caption	Credit
250604-schoenenkwartier-sneaker-evolution-017-ronald-smits_1756480464.jpg	Anatomy 2025

The images above are included in the ZIP under /images.