

Bathing in the Cloud

Project Information (EN)

‘The cloud’ is not just a magical place in the sky. It’s much more down to earth. In fact, it’s a warehouse full of rows and rows of computers all providing you with data and generating massive amounts of heat in the process. Lucas de Ruiter sought to dem

Projectinformatie (NL)

‘The Cloud’ is niet zomaar een magische plek in de lucht. Het is veel aardser, het is een glasvezel-kabelnetwerk, die de aarde omspant en rijen en rijen computers in datacentra verbindt. Lucas de Ruiter onderzocht de onzichtbare wereld van deze data-cente

Image List

Filename	Caption	Credit
lucasderuiter-bathinginthecloud-cronaldsmits-instagram_1602619478.jpg	Research images and speculative proposal video	©RonaldSmits machine-vision-full-size-3-digital-photo-2_1602619518.jpg	Digital Photograph inside the data-center	©Lucas de Ruiter
machine-vision-full-size-1-thermal-image-1_1602619541.jpg	Infrared Thermal Image of a cloud-server	©Lucas de Ruiter
machine-vision-full-size-2-photogram-1_1602619576.jpg	Photogrammetry 3D scan of the data-center	©Lucas de Ruiter
machine-vision-full-size-4-cfd-2_1602619591.jpg	CFD simulation heat transport to the outside

The images above are included in the ZIP under /images.